

POTENTIAL DANGER

- Assess the situation, and then take appropriate action.
- Move away from the potential threat. You will have to decide how immediate the threat is and how drastic your action should be.
- Join any group of people nearby. Cross the street and increase your pace.
- Go to a well-lit public place and call the police immediately.
- If you believe a threat is imminent and you see people nearby to help you, try to get their attention by: yelling, screaming, or make a commotion in any way you can.
- If you see someone else in trouble, call the police immediately.
- After you have avoided the threat of crime, call the police and report any and all details of the incident, including:
  - Suspect Description
  - Location of incident
  - Vehicle Used (If any)
  - Last known direction of suspect
